The influx of gold to the this country is a vigorous antidote to Democratic platform and speakers.

The Democrats who predict that a fearful calamity will befall the country must take the country for the Democratic party.

We publish on our second page a very interesting letter from the pen of Mrs.
Frank Leland, of Hamilton, Ontario. It is worth a careful reading.

It took James G. Jenkins fourteen years after the war closed to make up his mind that he ought to utter "patriotic sentiments." Late repentance can't save him.

The question is who wrote Jenkins "patriotic speech?" for a Democratic campaign document? A delay of seventeen years to utter "loyal sentiments" is too thin for this canvass.

Congressman Williams had an "overflowing" meeting at Milton Junction on Saturday night. The hall was jammed, the audience enthusiastic, and the speech was, as all of Mr. Williams' are, strong and to the point.

To-day the great contest in Ohio will close. Tomorrow the people will vote and Charles Foster will be elected Governor. The Republicans of Ohio have made up their minds to do this and no Democratic programme can change their purpose.

A thorough investigation into the causes that led the horrible railway calamity, near Jackson, Michigan, shows that it was the result of gross criminal carelessness. It was nothing less than wholesale murder, and these who are directly responsible for the crime, should receive the punishment they deserve.

At Oskaloosa, Iowa, on Friday, the Greenbackers and the Democrats held a joint meeting, and instead of eating "biled owl" they demolished a roasted ox. There were about eight thousand persons present. In Iowa, the Democrats are as self monied as ever, and have linked their fortunes with the wild inflationists.

Some of the Democratic papers have recently printed a speech which is reported to have been delivered by Mr. Jenkins in July, 1863, in which he expressed "loyal sentiments." But where the speech can be found printed in that year, the papers do not tell. It seems to have taken the Democrats about two weeks to work up that "patriotic" speech.

The Hon. J. C. Burrows, of Michigan, will speak in Beloit to-morrow (Tuesday) evening. Mr. Burrows is one of the popular speakers in the West. He is stalwart, vigorous, eloquent, and decidedly humorous, and sways an audience with remarkable power and ease. This will be a rare opportunity for the Republicans of Janesville to hear a "rattling" campaign speech.

About the politics of Peck's Sun, the Fond du Lac Commonwealth says: Peck's Sun is a pretty whirling. When Peck is at home his paper is a good Republican publication, but when he is out hunting ducks and the paper is left in charge of V. W.
Richardson, it fairly boils over with unalloyed Democracy." This is one of the humorous features of the Sun. Making the paper Democratic one week and Republican the next, is Peck's happy ways of making things even.

The present condition of political affairs in Massachusetts indicate that Butler and his five platforms will be severely crushed in November. He is so much discouraged over the prospects, that he proposes to deal out campaign money with a careful hand.
He does not intend to expend more than $10,000 this year, which will not meet the demands of the five parties that have given him a nomination. Last year he was more confident and quite generous and gave about $300,000. He was defeated last fall by nearly 25,000 majority, and he will face as badly this year.

The Milwaukee News rises and says:
"James G. Jenkins is a good lawyer, a good citizen, a good fellow, and a good Democrat—all qualifications which the Governor of Wisconsin should possess, and the people intend to have just these qualities in their executive." Mr. Jenkins may be a good lawyer, a good citizen, and a good fellow, and may cheer for Jeff Davis like a good Democrat, but the people of Wisconsin have made arrangements to elect Gov-

Story of Governor Smith's Naturalization—The Disgraceful Course of the Madison Democrat.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 12.—The Democrats having failed to concoct anything during the present campaign against Governor Smith, either personally or otherwise, and as the election is drawing uncomfortably near with sure defeat staring them in the face, a desperate effort was made, and with a grand flourish it was announced last night, and the fact telegraphed to various Democratic papers, that Governor Smith never took out his naturalization papers until after he had served as a State Senator and State Treasurer, and he was a subject of her Majesty, the Queen, until 1870. The fact of the matter is as follows: The father of Governor Smith came from Scotland to this country with his family when William E. Smith was about 10 years of age. He became a citizen as soon as he could do so under our naturalization laws, and his becoming a citizen made citizens of all his minor children, and of this number was William E. Smith, now Governor of Wisconsin. It will thus be seen that the naturalization papers taken out in 1870 were wholly unnecessary to constitute Governor Smith a full citizen of the United States.

The explanation for the taking out of the papers is easy and simple. In the spring of 1870 Mr. Smith made his arrangements to visit Europe, and he applied to the proper authorities for a pasport. Blank's were sent him on which to make his application. In filling these blanks he found that he must state the place of his nativity, and if it was on foreign soil he must give proof that he was then a citizen of this country. Having been born in Scotland he must show proof of citizenship. He had but a short time in which to obtain this proof prior to the day of sailing, and his passage was secured. To do so would require writing to his father, who resided in Scotland, and would be attended with considerable trouble. It occurred to him that the whole matter could be arranged in a few moments by sending into the office of the Clerk of the Supreme Court and taking out papers. It was done at once, and this is all there was of it. These papers were taken out because it was the easiest and quickest way for him to prove his citizenship in order to receive his passport. It was simply a matter of convenience for the time being, and not at all necessary to constitute him a full citizen of the United States, as he had been such for many years before he came to Wisconsin, and he came to this State in 1849.

What can the people think of a party that resorts to such contemptible tricks to injure an honorable and high minded opponent?

The situation never looked more favorable everywhere. The Republicans are gaining ground, and Democrats well posted in politics concede the election of the Republican ticket by from 10,000 to 12, 000 majority.

CLOSING UP.*The Campaign Work in Ohio—Monster Meeting at Massillon.

MASSILLON, Ohio, Oct. 11.—The largest meeting of the campaign, in this part of the State, surpassing in attendance, in enthusiasm, and in the magnificence of the parade, was held at Massillon to-day, and was addressed by Secretary Sherman, and General Sheridan, of Louisiana. Secretary Sherman arrived here last night at 11 o'clock, from Lancaster, where he had spoken in the afternoon, and, notwithstanding the lateness of the hour, was welcomed by an enormous crowd, with bands of music and fireworks. After being escorted to his hotel, he was serenaded and made a short speech.

General Sheridan, who is enormously popular in this section, was serenaded, and made one of his brilliant speeches. The people commenced to assemble in town at an early hour this morning, and by 9 o'clock the streets were thronged.
The business houses, residences, and manufactories were handsomely decorated with bunting, and every vehicle that could be found in town was covered with flags and found its place in the procession, which was at least two miles long. The parade commenced at 10 o'clock and brought up at the fair grounds at 12 o'clock. In the procession all the manufactures were represented with appropriate mottos and emblems of the trade. At least 15,000 people were gathered at the grounds. Special trains came from all directions bearing the crowd.

Secretary Sherman spoke an hour, and then left for Mansfield, where he spoke again. He was particularly emphatic in his declarations on the Southern question, and placed himself strongly on the ground of the propriety of using armed force if the civil authority was not sufficient to enforce the law.

Stark county, which is usually Democratic by about 90 majority, will go Republican on Tuesday if the signs can be read aright. One of the significant features of the day was that General Beatty, a gallant soldier during the war, but till now a Democrat, was Marshal of the occasion.

SENATOR BLAINE.*Among the Republicans of Iowa—A Grand Rally.

IOWA CITY, Oct. 12.—The Republican rally yesterday in honor of James G. Blaine was the largest and most enthusiastic political gathering ever held in this section of the State. Every railroad entering the city ran special trains, and there was outpouring of the people within a radius of 100 miles, the number in attendance being variously estimated at from 20,000 to 25, 000, fully twelve thousand surrounding the speakers stand. Mr. Blaine spoke for two hours, and held the undivided attention of his audience. It was a speech of great power and eloquence, and everybody is enthusiastic in his praise. The Lumbar Glee Club, of Chicago, sang a number of patriotic songs, which were received with demonstrations of applause. It was a notable political gathering, and far exceeded in numbers the demonstration given here in 1860 in honor of Stephen A.
Douglas.

TERRIBLE OUTRAGE.

DEAVER DAM, Oct. 11.—A short time since a brutal outrage was committed at Huberville. Some men while engaged in a drunken debauch took John Fagan, better known as Johnny Ring (who was also drunk at the time) and submitted him to the most inhuman treatment the fiends could conceive of. They tied him to a wagon wheel and in this manner he was drawn about until utterly crazed and exhausted. Their devilish delight then took a new form and he was released from the wagon and compelled to hold in his hands red hot irons which were taken from a blacksmith shop. This treatment rendered him a howling maniac, and he divested himself of his clothes and was beaten and pounded by the men who placed him in an old well and stood guard over him.
Afterwards they drew him out and left him in the lot of the cattle shed from which he fell during the night and was trampled upon by the cattle. He was found the next day nearly dead from his injuries, and Dr. Davies, of Columbus, was called.
He is slowly improving but a sickening sight to behold. His recovery is yet a question. Six persons supposed to have been responsible for the deed were brought before Justice Leachard, charged with assault and battery, but on the trial nothing could be proved against them, and they were dismissed. It is thought the injured man will never recover his senses.

CORRECTION.

To the Editor of The Tribune.
FOND DU LAC, Oct. 12.—The dispatch in yesterday's Tribune concerning the new postmaster of Fond du Lac, Thomas W.
Spence, is not entirely correct. There is no such law firm as Carpenter, Coleman & Spence, and never was. There is such a firm as Carpenter & Coleman, at Washington, and Mr. Coleman, who lives here, was for years a law-partner with T.
W. Spence. Mr. Hauser was removed because of numerous irregularities in the postoffice, on the report made by Special Agent Capt. Stewart, of Chicago, and not for any political reason whatever, or by the aid or influence of Senator Carpenter and his friends. The only connection Senator Carpenter or his friends had with the matter was in endorsing T. W.
Spence as a proper person to succeed Mr.
Hauser as Postmaster. JUSTICE.

A PASTOR'S PARTING.

RACINE, Oct. 12.—On the 21st of September, the Rev. Joseph Rowley, who has been pastor of the First Baptist church of this city for the past twelve years, sent in his resignation, which was acted upon today by the church and congregation, and accepted. The church, when the Rev. Mr.
Rowley became pastor, was but a small affair, but by his fidelity has increased to 320 in membership. Mr. Rowley has labored faithfully, not only as a Christian gentleman, but he has taken an active part in the interests of our city. His departure from here will be greatly felt by both the congregation and public at large.

THE HYER SISTERS.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12.—The Hyer Sisters Colored Opera Company came to grief here, owing to the action of a late member of the troupe to whom a balance was due in salary. He got out an attachment, seized all the baggage of the troupe, and prevented them from carrying out their advertised programme. They may settle up and recover their baggage, but will give no more performances here.

exhibits the Atmospheric Gas Engine attracted much attention. It is a small upright engine, run entirely by the expansion of a gas. It is enough to make a printer who has a gas engine, die of the one who has such an engine. It was not as you can turn on and off the gas as you wish to use the power of the machine. I am told Philadelphia is manufacturing them, especially for publishing houses, and that the demand far exceeds the supply. Also that many publishing houses in Europe have their machinery run entirely by this motor. There is no danger from explosions with it and none from fire. It is being largely used for hoists instead of hydraulic power on account of its cheapness. You may be acquainted with the properties of this machine which some think will create a revolution in motor power for some purposes.

The great, grand, much advertised, much landed and much traveled exhibit at this fair, was the "Manitoba Exhibit." Manitoba is the centre of the universe! Around it revolve and cluster all the interests of a broad and better eating world. When good Canadians die they go to Manitoba.
When emigrants come from Europe they are taken to the garden spot of the universe, the central ground, Manitoba. Railroads are to be built—if English capitalists will furnish the money—to Manitoba.
Manufacturers here must have a market.
"America" will not furnish it, so what promising as our Manitoba? See now, in the same or similar way as Nebraska, Kansas, and other western states have grains, and roots and vegetables to the Chicago Expositions, State Fairs, &c., Manitoba is representing her capacity for agriculture. The collection has been on exhibition at Ottawa's "Dominion Expon-sition" before coming here. The vegetables and roots are really excellent. The cabbages are monstrous. The squashes, pumpkins, &c., melons, turnips, carrots and potatoes are all very large. A very fine collection of onions is shown, and rhubarb, cauliflower, celery, tomatoes, corn, beans, apples, &c., all of excellent quality. There were twenty-five entries in wheat, this grain being very fine. Barley, rye, oats and peas of extraordinary growth, and many samples of such. Twenty-five varieties of grasses were shown. Butter and cheese, mustard, tobacco, flax, and sugar canes. There were samples of fur, exhibits of pottery and brick, and samples of the soil. There were many more things I cannot take your time to mention in this collection which is very interesting and profitable. It is interesting as giving better and truer ideas of the capacity of the country in agriculture, and it is ingenious because it is calculated to fire the agricultural heart with desire to possess this rich soil to coin money from. Nothing, of course, is said about the 32° below zero as a winter rule, or the length of the dreary winter. However, the productions are past belief, when one considers the latitude —farther north than Lake Superior—but withstanding the extreme northern latitude, these productions here exhibited were equal in luxuriant growth to those raised in Kansas, Nebraska, &c., but it will require the constitution of the sturdy northern to endure the rigors of eight months of severe Manitoba winter. But were you to live in Canada for a time, you would stand a chance to believe that in all the wide, wide universe, there was but one region of bliss, and that, Manitoba!

But it is quite natural that they should make the best showing they can to attract emigration to their unsettled territories, for they have so comparatively little well cultivated farming country that they very naturally make much of all their producing lands. The whole Dominion are agreed upon working up every agricultural present, seeing how all prosper when the earth prospers and brings forth. In advertising, and what is generally conceded to be the "frontier" of the world, they outdo their teachers in the Manitoba war cry.

Canada in common with the States, has had abundant harvests. The month of October is thus far warm and genial compared with a cold September. Occasional frosts have painted a portion of the forest leaves a vivid scarlet, while a portion still retains its summer freshness of green. In the landscape is a most lovely in its varied hues and gradations of color.
The export from this consular district to the States have been very large this fall, quite an increase upon last year. Wood and malt are among the leading articles.
Many people have an idea that it is much cheaper living in Canada than in the States. However, it may have been in the past, it is now the reverse. Some years since, when goods in the States were high, and tariffs here, light, no doubt it was so; but now that goods are so cheap in the States, at least a quarter more to live here than in places of the same size in the States.

I have taken considerable pains to learn as the home friends often ask questions about prices of goods and I really know of no class of dry goods which is not cheaper and better in the States. I supposed silks were cheaper here, but from samples of Chicago silks and prices, I am sure for a middle quality of silks, they are cheaper there. Cotton goods are very much higher here. As for "cheap" goods I have never held in my life before the "cheapies" they tell you "is go I value" here. The ladies will be interested to know that genius in dressmaking comes from the States. Natives have no genius, no taste. Canadians are a slower people than we are. They are good to brag on after they get an idea that they have learned the quick wit to learn and the rest, that Americans have. But there are things the Americans would do well to copy from them. One is the more uniform politeness of demeanor. They seldom forget what is due to others in that regard. Then, again, Americans are more considerate of poor people. Here "servant" is only a servant, and a domestic, and not to be considered a boarding-house keeper "nobody," and so on.

Groceries are higher here, and there are grades and qualities we are commonly accustomed to which are not obtainable here.
For instance, what we are accustomed to as the white grades of coffee-sugar in the States, I have never seen in any store in Hamilton. After the lightest brown sugar is reached there is nothing between to the "granulated." Spices which we buy in tin boxes with "pepper-box" tops are not found here, you buy in bulk. "No. 1" Mackerel here is no mackerel, so a proper informed man, then buy in barrels. And notwithstanding this is so wonderful a wheat country, the flour is exceedingly generally speaking, we have rancid flour in the city. I think, flour and we have found a patent flour for which we pay five-cents a pound. It is not as white or as nice as that we found in Walworth county. Choice butter is eighteen cents, and eggs are fifteen cents neither of which is a high price considering the size of the city. Potatoes are about 25 and 37 cents per bushel.
Whether owing to the soil or what it may be I know not, but the potatoes here are very fine in flavor, much better than Wisconsin or Minnesota potatoes. The "early rose" is the favorite in the market.

But I weary your patience, I forget you may not be as much interested in Canada as I am. I have tried to send the latest winding up of my last letter to the compositor omitted. No great loss to any one.
I ought to tell the Methodists who may have chance to read this, that the missois-sary society of that church in Canada is in debt about $70.00 and that yesterday were held union and mass meetings of their churches throughout the Dominion, to devise means for paying the debt and continuing the work. Hamilton gave $4.00 towards the sum. I hardly think religion, without Christianity, would induce so large a gift to help inform the world in darkness that there is a Savior unless that Savior were something more than man. It is a pity any mere man should seek to destroy a faith in Him unless he has something to give in the place of it. It is reversing the saying and giving ashes for beauty. Perhaps I should also say, that the cause of the debt is the unlarged field crowding upon the Society, calls for workers everywhere, in other words, a white harvest and few workers.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1897.

The Old National Pike.

The traffic seems like a frieze with an endless procession of figures. There were sometimes sixteen gaily painted coaches each way a day; the cattle and sheep were never out of sight; the canvas-covered wagons were drawn by six or twelve horses with bells that belled their color; the families of statesmen and merchants went in private vehicles; and while most of the travelers were unostentatious, a few had splendid equipages, and employed outriders. Some of the passes through the Alleghenies were as precipitous as any in the Sierra Nevada, and the mountains were as wild. Within miles of the road the country was a wilderness, but on the highway the traffic was as dense and as continuous as in the main street of a large town.

The national road proper was built from Cumberland, Maryland, to Wheeling, Virginia, by the United States government, the intention being to establish it as far as St. Louis. It was excellently macadamized; the rivers and creeks were spanned by stone bridges; the distances were indexed by iron mile posts, and the toll houses supplied with strong iron gates. Its projector and chief supporter was Henry Clay, whose services in its behalf are commemorated by a monument near Wheeling. Henry Beson, a former Congressman was also an advocate of it, and on one occasion he made a public speech in which he showed the audience so flexible is arithmetic combined with imagination—that from the number of horsehoes it would be necessary, and the number of miles, it was better adapted to promote trade than any railway would be. From Cumberland to Baltimore the road, or a large part of it, was built by certain banks of Maryland, which were rechartered in 1810 on condition that they should complete the work. So far from being a burden to them, it proved a most lucrative business for many years, yielding as much as twenty per cent., and it is only a few years that it has yielded less than two or three per cent. The part built by the Federal government was transferred to Maryland some time ago, and the tolls became a political perquisite; but within the past year it has acquired by the counties of Allegheny and Garret, which have made it free.

We have written of what is past. The canal and railway have superseded the old national "pike," and it is not often now that a traveler disturbs the dust that lies upon it. The dust itself, indeed, has settled and given root to the grass and shrubbery, which in many places show how complete the decadence is. The block snakes, moose cases, and copperheads, that were always plentiful in the mountains, have become so gaudied to the intrusion of man that they suit themselves in the road, and a vehicle cannot pass without running over them. Many of the villages which were prosperous in the coaching days have fallen asleep, and the wagon of a peddler or farmer is alone seen where once the travel was enormous. The men who were actively engaged on the road as drivers, station agents, and mail contractors are nearly all dead. The few that remain are very old, and while an inquiry about the past reanimates them for a moment they soon lapse into the oblivion of their years. But the taverns, with their hospitable and picturesque fronts, the old smithies, and the toll-gates, have not been entirely swept away. Enough has been left undespoiled to sustain the interest and individuality of the highway, which from Frederick to Cumberland is rich by descent of Nature, independently of its past. — W. L. Riddick, in Harper's Magazine for November.

Heredity in Crime.

An account was recently published of a Jackson family in New York State, which, beginning with a vagrant woman, nearly one hundred years ago, has supplied a vast number of criminals of every degree of guilt to the jails and prisons. Another instance of heredity in crime has just come to light in New Bedford, Massachusetts. Charles Phillips, a young man of eighteen years, and crippled in his right arm, has been convicted of burglary. He is a great-grandson of Melrose Briggs, who was in the State prison at one time with seven of his sons. For more than 100 years this branch of the Briggs family has furnished in every generation criminals whose names may be found on the court records and the rolls of penal institutions. The ancestry of Melrose Briggs can be traced back in direct line to a noted pirate in the time of Karl Belamont. — Cincinnati Gazette.

The Wicked Deacon.

In a flourishing young city of Michigan lives a worthy man who has had the misfortune to be a widower three times, and is now living with his fourth wife, who has two boys by a former marriage. These have been taught, to call the step-father "pa." While entering company at a tea evening, an aggravating case of divorce became the topic of conversation. A lady expressed herself emphatically against divorce, quoting several passages of Scripture, and concluding with this: "And St. Paul says he that putteth away his wife committeth a grievous sin." At this, the oldest boy, having duly filled his stomach, suddenly took in the whole subject by saying, "Why, pa he put away her or four or ten, and he's a deacon, too!"

Eighty-one Miles an Hour.

Regarding the speed at which a locomotive can run, the following extract from letters published in the English Mechanic (London, Aug. 22), may be of interest as showing what is done in England in the way of speed. Referring to the engines on the Bristol and Exeter railway, the writer says that "they have attained the speed of eighty miles an hour, and in one instance the rate was 81.1 miles an hour. This engine had single drivers, 9 feet cylinders, 17x24." Another writer says: "I have known a Liverpool and Manchester express to run in Manchester to Warrington (sixteen miles) in sixteen and a half minutes, the fastest mile being done in fifty-five seconds, and the slowest in fifty-eight."

The origin of the portrait of the Goddess of Liberty upon our coins is of great interest. Mr. Spencer (the inventor of Spencer's lathe, used by the American Bank Note Company) was the artist who cut the first die for our American coin. He cut an exact medallion of Mrs. Washington, the wife of General Washington, and the first few coins were struck with her portrait. When General Washington saw them he was displeased, and requested that the figure be removed. Mr. Spencer altered the features a little, and putting a cap upon the head, called it the Goddess of Liberty. If future artists will bear this in mind, they will always take Mrs. Washington's portrait for the guide when wishing to produce the Goddess.

The Baltimore Gazette says that when Jackson's statue was unveiled in Richmond some years ago, after the procession and the oratory, Governor Kemper brought forward upon the platform a slender little girl, and addressing the great crowd of the old Confederate soldiers, said: "Confederates, let me present to you the daughter of Stonewall Jackson." Somehow the tears sprang to every eye at the sight of this delicate child of her restless leader. There was no cheering, but every face showed a deep emotion. Ever since that time a tender and poetic interest has clung to this little lady, and there are many thousands who care to know of her well-being. She has recently arrived in this city, and has been entered at the Southern Home School. Miss Julia Jackson is about sixteen years old, tall, slender and graceful. She is a blonde, with fresh color and fair hair. Her eyes are of exquisite clear gray, large and expressive. Her manners are gentle, but not shy or reserved. There is not any marked resemblance to her illustrious father, and she seems hardly conscious of the distinction that she enjoys, and of her romantic interest that she carries with her.

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear, and Catarrh of the Throat.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

(CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Catarrh of the nasal cavities varies in severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold, or from a sudden change of temperature, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to cold winds, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive system is inactive or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from a general condition of the blood, from Scattered Fever, or from a local cause, such as a cold eye and ear are generally involved and discharge from the nose is common. The disease is characterized by a constant discharge from the nose, which may be watery, and may become thick and yellow, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of action, the surface may be dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head may become uncomfortable, and as if it was pierced by a hot, unrelenting hand. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free matter discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly into the lungs and throat. The matter passing down the throat causes a constant desire to hawk and expectorate, and when the membrane becomes dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scales, incrustations, and hard clumps, which adhere to the lining of the nasal cavity, and require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The eye also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, which being aided by the mucus from the nasal cavity, causes a most distressing and painful condition, ending frequently in inflammation of the eye, and in some cases in blindness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are primary cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, each affection becomes alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it comes to a crisis. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE are, that it is a safe, reliable, and permanent remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the efficacy in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most distressing and dangerous disease with which mankind is today afflicted.

Dr. Price's not one of experiment, but founded on the laws of Nature, with years of experience and evidence to sustain it, does not tear down, but seeks to make up, no harsh treatment, no trifling, no flattery. We know the cause and the remedy needed; no guess work, but knowledge gained of years experience in the treatment of chronic diseases exclusively; no encouragement without a prospect.
